

Here's a few thoughts on my experience regarding Presidio Hills golf course. It all started around 1950. My Dad, just like yours, played golf which made me curious. So began to chip and putt in my back yard. He knew I liked it and said lets go to a golf course. Introduction to Presidio hills ! We played maybe 25 times both having improvement. Great Father / Son day and affordable. When it got where he no longer could beat me, upgraded to the short 9 holes at Balboa park. Every time he played, I walked with him---maybe let me hit 1 or 2 shots. However, when he went to the 19th hole, I'd take his putter and putt until time to go home. Because of Presidio Hills, I was hooked on golf. Also very small, so no football, basketball or baseball ! 65+ years later-- still playing. (poorly). I credit golf for competition in Junior Golf, a college education, All American, USGA events, travel in US and Scotland and Ireland, AT&T at Pebble, and many many new friends. SO Fortunate. I credit it all to Presidio Hills. Have to start somewhere !!!!
